

salt concentration in the capillary remaining liquid and its density at the evaporating end

